RABBI'S COLUMN

The Real Passover Blessing

“Ah zissen und ah kasher Pesach” – “a sweet and a kosher Passover” is not how most of us think about the best aspects of this most-observed Jewish holiday. When we think of Passover, we think of salty (albeit comfort) foods, rambunctious family gatherings, and numerous restrictions. We might assume that the Passover blessing that we offer our family and friends might include some of these aspects: “Have a free-feeling Passover,” or “Have a calm and complaint-free seder,” or even “May your Passover meals not raise your blood pressure!” At least, we could offer each other the blessing, “May your Passover cleaning not break your back!”

So what is it with this blessing – a sweet and kosher Passover – what does it really mean if not a hope rather than good wishes? Well, it is all that and much more!

When we wish others that they might have a Passover that is sweet, it is not the food to which we are referring. We are saying to the person we are blessing that we want for them a holiday that has the sweetest elements of life: A sense of completion or a holiday well-made, as well as the connections renewed to those whose presence lights up our lives: close family and friends. We are asking for the real blessings of sweetness in life – the ability to say that we are right with and in our world – when we speak of the sweetness of Passover.

When we speak of a kosher Passover, we are not simply speaking of getting everything from the grocery store with the special Passover hecksure (kosher certification symbol) on it or about making sure that no leaven comes into contact with our Passover food. We are speaking of a much more important kashrut, or “kosherness” – we are wishing our close family and friends the raised spiritual life of being right with God. When we follow our tradition as best we can, we raise our spirits higher, we become more than who we are normally; this is not unlike keeping kosher and raising that “kosher bar” to a new level during Passover.

Whether it is a “sweet Passover” or a “kosher Passover,” we are wishing our close family and friends a life that is richer than their lives are now and richer than they could even imagine. After all, how do we measure a successful life? Surely, while money and things are truly important, they pale in comparison to family and friends, and those pale in comparison to good health – spiritual and mental health (not to mention physical health, of course).

It is this spiritual health that was being addressed during the recent visit of Rabbi Micah Becker-Klein to our community. While our spiritual health was greatly improved by his visit, this was just a taste of what is possible during Passover. And so, to family, friends, fellow congregants, and Jews everywhere, we offer the blessing of “a sweet and kosher Passover,” that the richness of life and the joy of God’s presence be felt in our lives.

I cannot help but mention that this blessing may also act as a reminder to us that as God was with our ancestors in times far more perilous than in which we are living today, so too will God be at our side in these tough times. I cannot think of a better blessing.

May each of us find our spirits raised higher, our minds honed sharper, and our lives all the richer as we experience the best blessing we can offer: A sweet and kosher Passover!

During his visit to our community, Rabbi Micah Becker-Klein asked our own Rabbi Fox to join him ‘on stage’ on bongos for one of his many spiritually uplifting songs during his 90-minute concert/Melaveh Malka held at Congregation Beth Israel in Northfield.

Presidents' Column

Spring has sprung and we at Temple Beth Shalom ushered in the season with a bang!

The super weekend of March 20, 21 and 22 was fantastic. Rabbi Micah Becker-Klein was an absolute delight. Our Friday night service, which he led playing his guitar and introducing new songs and melodies to the service, was a pure joy. Saturday night at Beth Israel was another fun event. Sunday afternoon with "Kuggles and Kosher" was very informative and delicious.

I want to thank our wonderful Rabbi Fox for finding Rabbi Micah and organizing this weekend with the other synagogues. Special thanks to the Gutermans, the Jacobys and the Shenders for hosting Rabbi Micah.

Even the weather cooperated. But...know what was missing?

YOU! All the time, effort and planning that went into this weekend should have brought a larger turnout. This was a fantastic weekend and if you weren't there you blew it....

We on the board are in the process of planning a wonderful spring and summer season. Many of the events include a Shabbat dinner with Friday night services on the beach, Rabbi Hahn Memorial Lecture, a trip to the Jewish Museum, flea markets and a bazaar. All of this takes a tremendous amount of time and effort. If these projects are to go ahead, I need much more support from you....all of you....not just the usual crew. (They are being stretched to the limit.)

So....get some extra sleep, take more vitamins and get on board. I look forward to seeing more of you in the coming weeks!

HAPPY PASSOVER!!!!!!!!!!!!

Lill Shender, President

TEMPLE BETH SHALOM BOOK CLUB

After a stimulating complete review of "The Jewish Soul On Fire" by Esther Jungreis, the Billy Graham of Orthodox Judaism, was held at Lill Shender's home, it was decided that our next session, to be held at Betty Chaikin's home, will be "My Father's Paradise," by Ariel Sabar, who searches for his Jewish past in Kurdish Iraq.

Any hobby you have, including boat building, needle-point, miniature shoe display, etc. made our visit like going to a museum.

To join us call Diane at the Temple, 266-0403.

Persons of the Month Henry & Gloria Jacoby

Henry & Gloria Jacoby have been friends of Temple Beth Shalom for many eons and we love them dearly. They come to services every week and sometimes conduct the service with President Lill when needed. The aroma of delicious cakes and other specialties area special product of Gloria. Henry takes on all special jobs needed by our Temple. Our score for them – 100!

The Seder Plate:

The seder plate contains the five symbols of the seder.

The foods that make up the seder plate are not actually eaten during the seder. They are:

Karpas: a vegetable, usually green such as parsley, to symbolize Spring and rebirth. It is dipped into salt water near the beginning of the seder.

Haroset: a mixture of chopped apples, nuts, wine and spices like cinnamon or nutmeg. We dip the maror into the haroset to lessen the bitter herb's taste. It also symbolizes the mortar that the slaves made for bricks in Egypt.

Maror: the bitter herbs. The most common foods used for maror are carefully washed romaine lettuce or freshly ground horseradish. If you use horseradish from a jar, it should be adulterated, without beets or vinegar.

Beitzah: a roasted egg, also the symbol of the festival sacrifice. The egg should be hard-boiled and while in its shell scorched on top of the stove burner or roasted in the oven.

Zeroa: the shank bone or a roasted bone, another symbol of the festival sacrifice.

Edie Krimstock, Chairman

We would like to say thank you to Rabbi Fox for making the March Super Weekend so very memorable. We truly enjoyed Rabbi Micah Becker-Klein Friday night and also Saturday night. We were unable to attend on Sunday, however know that this must also have been a success. All of the hard work which it took to make this happen is truly appreciated and we thank you and say we are looking forward to next year.

We would also like to thank Lill and Ron for the behind the scene work which you both do on a regular basis. Our Temple is most fortunate to have you and we truly appreciate all you do.

Sid and Shirley Morgan

Dear Congregation
Temple Beth Shalom,

Thanks for your support and concern. We want to thank you for your calls, cards, contributions and consolation in response to the recent death of Alan's mother, Doris Smolen, of blessed memory. She worked on behalf of synagogues and other worthy causes for years, raising funds and creating community. Your support is truly appreciated and apropos to her spirit.

CHUCKLE OF THE MONTH

Passover is in a few weeks and here are some points you might want to consider.

- A group of leading medical researchers have published data indicating that Seder participants should NOT partake of both chopped liver and charoses, it seems that this combination can lead to Charoses of the Liver.
- At our Seder, we had whole wheat and bran matzo, fortified with Metamucil. The brand name, of course, is... "Let My People Go."

Old Jewish men in Miami get hernias from wearing chai's which are too heavy. This condition is called chaital hernia!

If a doctor carries a black bag and a plumber carries a tool box, what does a mohel carry? A briskit!

Jewish Jeopardy. We give the answer, you give the question:

A: A classroom, a Passover ceremony, and a latke.

Q: What are a cheder, a Seder and a tater?

A: Sofer

Q: On what do Jews recline on Passover?
