RABBI'S COLUMN

Fragile and Strong

What is stronger than steel and weaker than paper? Sounds like a riddle, but it is a simple reflection I shared with someone in a recent pastoral visit. The answer is obvious: We are. Each of us can steel ourselves against the worst that Life has to offer and yet we can crumble very easily, under the right conditions. We view ourselves as an unrealistic mirage if we assume simply one or the other vision – that we are only strong or only weak. We are complex and our religious traditions recognize and celebrate this fact.

As the unmitigated joy of the New Year fades and even the ominously solemn tone of Yom Kippur becomes an echo in our psyche, what are we left with? What is the “take away” message for the coming year? Obviously, the details are different for each of us, but the long view is most definitely universal: Each of us must live better, embracing a more healthy, more full life than the year before. Judaism is not about stagnation, it is about transformation.

While Judaism expresses what we might call universal or eternal truths, our heritage uses and has always used the language of transformation. Whether it is Passover's message of a people's birth, Hanukkah's message of rebirth, or Shavuot's retelling of the Jewish People's acceptance of God's laws, to name just a few, Judaism speaks its religious language of transformation in constantly loud tones.

The Yamim Noraim (Days of Awe) reflect this metaphor in the most extreme and personal way. We perform a personal inventory during the preceding month of Elul and then experience the happiness of the New Year, which leads us into the direct engagement with God and with ourselves on Yom Kippur. Then what? We are stripped bare, exposing our deficiencies and for what purpose? To feel uncomfortable? To give God a chuckle? To keep us under God's “thumb?” No. To allow us to make brand new choices in who we will be from that moment forward.

Our tradition reminds us at this time of year that, while God is above us in the “food chain,” we are responsible for ourselves. We are directed to make that overarching decision to move forward with our lives – to shed our lives of pettiness, to excise from our mind the illness of foul-thinking, to work toward a real understanding of our fellow, to grow into ourselves – in order to move our spirit to a higher place (to borrow from Chasidische theology). This “higher place” is a way of living, a way of being a Jew and a human being, that requires all of the best we have to offer and promises the same.

What is inherent in our heritage's Yamim Noraim promise is that each of us will benefit from seeing the world differently and from living in it cannot predict who will meet with tragedy (or what kind of tragedy – small or large) in the coming year, but we can constantly manage and adjust to what Life has to offer us. In the end, we have only one life and one world in which we can live; we must live in the present and live wholly and well. The time is now and the choice is up to you.

I offer you now my blessing for the Yamim Noraim: May your journey be uplifting and bring you to the life of which you feel you can only dream.

G'mar Hatima Tovah and Hag Sameach (for Sukkot),

Rabbi Gerald R. Fox

Presidents' Column

Oy Vey! Hurricanes Hanna and Ike! The volatility of Wall Street...it's down...it's up. Oil...it's down...it's up. Get my drift?

Let's all stop and take some really deep breaths and welcome in the New Year.

Yes, our lives are stressful. It seems that everyone wants something from us whether it be money, time etc.

Everyone wants a piece of us.

Now is the time to step back...reflect...think about how we can simplify our lives, re-energize ourselves so that we will be able to face this brand New Year. Too many people depend on us. We cannot afford to pull the covers over our heads and give up.

So as they say in the Marines, "Suck it up." We can and we will force change so our lives, our Temple, our Country can once again be the best place on Earth.

L'Shana Tova!

Lill Shender, President

Save the Date

Tuesday, Nov. 25
Brigantine Interfaith
Community Service

Join the Brigantine community for services and refreshments. All are welcome.

More to come.

Children's Bingo

was a great success for Temple Beth Shalom and the Brigantine children. Our heartfelt thanks to Jamie and Steve Satz and their crew for a job well done.

Book Club

We are forming a book club to occupy your spare time this winter. Chairman Cheryl Guterman has chosen "People of the Book" by Geraldine Brooks as our first selection. This book, inspired by a true story, is at once a novel of sweeping historical grandeur and intimate emotional intensity, an ambitious, electrifying work by an acclaimed and beloved author. The book review will be followed by coffee and cake. If interested, call our office, 266-0403. More to follow.

Many thanks to

Rabbi Gerald & Sarah Fox
for sponsoring our beautiful
Rosh Hashanah Oneg.

LEN COPLEIN LIBRARY

You are invited to browse through the library in the office. Anything you want to know about Judaism is available there. Don't just listen to me...investigate this great opportunity.

MAY I HAVE YOUR ATTENTION PLEASE!

Are you celebrating a special day, honoring someone or remembering a loved one?

A good way to do this is to sponsor an Oneg Shabbat on a Friday night or a Saturday Kiddush Luncheon. It will make you feel good and will help your synagogue carry on this time honored tradition.

For only $25 for a Friday night or $100 for a Saturday luncheon, this has got to be the biggest bargain on the planet! Call Diane at 266-0403 and make your intentions known.

Congratulations

To Thelma Zuckerman on the birth of her 6th great-grandchild, Maxwell James Zuckerman. He was born on August 18, 2008 and weighed 8 lbs., 3 oz. Mazel Tov!

General Donations

Thelma Zuckerman in honor of the birth of her 6th great-grandchild, Maxwell James.
