RABBI'S COLUMN

Precious Moments Without Regrets

If we ask ourselves, alone and in a quiet moment, what is our greatest wish, our greatest desire that could not be fulfilled, it would almost certainly be to interact with someone long gone. In particular, when people are asked what they regret in life, their answers invariably involve not communicating clearly, or at all, the love and importance of those close to them. I see this all the time in my life as a chaplain, visiting patients in hospitals and nursing home residents – everyone wishes that they had said “I love you” more and had been more free with the simple words, “I’m sorry.”

What pains most human beings is not being “wrong” but rather not having an opportunity to become “right.” It is my theory that while Judaism emphasizes that “benching Gomerl” – reciting the prayer after a dangerous or near-death experience – is about accepting the gift of life that God has granted us, it is much more about being thankful for being granted the ability to become the best we can be. I have spoken to you many times, in newsletter articles, in sermons, and in private conversations, about striving to become the unrealized self that each of us can achieve. We are, to put it mildly, works in progress. It is our ignorance of this fact that allows us to be nasty to others, to ignore the love we receive, and to accept broodingly the stagnation in our lives.

As so we come to the month of Elul, the traditional time of soul-seeking and forgiveness-seeking. It is at this time of year that we are commanded to think of ourselves, but not selfishly so. We seek to be honest with ourselves in order to know the work ahead; during Elul, we do not seek self-happiness, instead we seek self-awareness. It has been commonly said that you cannot change what you do not acknowledge and that is just what the month of Elul seeks to teach us . . . to teach us about ourselves.

As we look at the tragedies that befall those less fortunate than us in the world, we must ask ourselves the age-old question: Why are we granted such a rich life? Why am I here? One of our greatest sages, Hillel, famously asked the tripartite question: “If I am not for myself, who will be for me? If I am only for myself, what am I? If not now, when?” Each of our lives, despite the sometimes considerable challenges we face, is awash with great opportunities to make the world a better place. I know that, by and large, we are good people, that we have sacrificed for family, friends, and even strangers. I wonder, however, what each of us will regret when we no longer have an opportunity available to us to heal ourselves, those who we love, or even someone in need who crosses our path. What will you regret next year? Let’s not find out . . . let us let loose the best of who we are inside to become today what we could be tomorrow.

As we consider these big questions over the coming weeks, I ask you not to live another day for who you are but to live every day for who you could be.

May be enriched by this season of introspection, forgiveness, and celebration that is the gateway to your bright tomorrows. And, of course, Sarah and I offer you every blessing for the New Year for yourself and your loved ones.

L'Shanah Tovah Tikateivu

Presidents' Column

L'Shanah Tovah Tikateivu.

Let me be the first to wish you a happy, healthy and peaceful new year.

The Board and I want to tell you about the exciting new programs we are in the process of planning for the New Year. We are looking forward to starting a Jewish Book Club and a discussion group that will be held after each Saturday Kiddush luncheon where we will cover current events, Jewish holidays, prayers, etc. Tell us what you might like to cover.

I want to thank all of you who filled out your survey form and returned it to me. It is of great help. We are busy categorizing all the information and will incorporate it in our upcoming plans for the New Year. All of you who have not yet filled out your form, please do so ASAP and return it in the self-addressed stamped envelope. It is very important. If you do not have a form, please call the office and we'll get you one.

The various committees have been formed and are looking for "a few good people." Please check out the following and contact the chairperson and tell them you want to participate. Join us....you'll like it.

As the end of this year draws near, I personally want to express my appreciation and sincere thanks to all who have made this year 5768 so special and successful.

Bring on 5769...We'll be ready with YOUR help!

Lill Shender, President

ANNUAL FOOD DRIVE

Please bring canned goods & non-perishable food items when you attend Yom Kippur Services.

These items will be donated to the Jewish Family Service Food Bank. Your donations are gratefully appreciated. Be as generous as possible as the need is great. Thank You!

L'Shanah Tovah Tikateivu

As new editor of the Mishpocheh newsletter, I shall continue the extraordinary publication of Lillian Shender. If there is anything of interest you wish to add, contact me.

BAZAAR & BOOK FEST

Super, just super...what a bazaar we had. There were hundreds of people attending and buying.

But without the great support of the following, we would have not been successful. These people were here Saturday night to set up, Sunday to man the tables and Monday to distribute and clean up:

Daniel-Paul & Eileen Alva
Len & Marsha Goldenberg
Sid & Shirley Morgan
Fred & Jackie Fabel
Ron & Lill Shender
Myrna Levin

MAY I HAVE YOUR ATTENTION PLEASE!

Are you celebrating a special day, honoring someone or remembering a loved one?

A good way to do this is to sponsor an Oneg Shabbat on a Friday night or a Saturday Kiddush Luncheon. It will make you feel good and will help your synagogue carry on this time honored tradition.

For only $25 for a Friday night or $100 for a Saturday luncheon, this has got to be the biggest bargain on the planet! Call Diane at 266-0403 and make your intentions known.
